Navy PO2 Timothy Birckhead enlisted in the Navy shortly after graduating from high school Philadelphia in 2000. He served on the USS Iwo Jima as an air-launched weapons technician. During his second tour in 2006, Timothy began experiencing pain and weakness in his legs, making walking and running difficult. He was later diagnosed with Hereditary Neuropathy with Liability to Pressure Palsies (HNPP), a condition that affects the sensory and motor nerves. Tim's case is progressive, and he now has increasing weakness and atrophy in his limbs.
